

Fine jewelry brand Chopard recently invited Lebanese designer Rami Kadi to showcase his capsule collection during an intimate evening in Sardinia, Italy. Attended by a VIP guest list of haute couture and fine jewelry clients, the Style.com/Arabia —DDFC Fashion Prize finalist captured the fairytale theme of the evening with his collection of twelve romantic embellished evening gowns in a pastel palette, which he drew inspiration from the movie Peau d'Âne (1970) starring Catherine Deneuve. This collection trails his Fall 2015 Couture collection, which he recently presented during Haute Couture Fashion Week in Paris.
